

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A synchronous network having a multiplicity of nodes which can transmit data to one another in a predefined sequence for a predefined duration is described. The described network is distinguished by the fact that a plurality of nodes, or all the nodes, can output a synchronization signal which defines a reference time for the synchronization of the nodes.

REL/vs